DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1,3,4, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Leibinsohn (US 4,064,879)

Leibinsohn teaches a syringe with a barrel (2), tip (6), a plunger (10) with an elongate body portion (12), and a stopper with anti-reflux means comprising a more flexible base (324) and a more rigid distal stopper (314). Fig 9. As to claim 4, see recess in Fig 10. As to claim 9, see rubber at Col 3 line 39

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 6-8, 11,12,14,16,18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leibinsohn in view of Tu (US 4,865,583) and Dovey et al (US 3,889,673).

Leibinsohn discloses the syringe with anti-reflux means and stopper with flexible base as above, but does not teach using the syringe with flush solution, a needle, a tip cap, or a method of flushing a catheter using the syringe.

Tu teaches a syringe (15/19) with flush solution (Col 5, line 57), a needle (on 19), and a method of flushing a catheter using the syringe (Fig 1).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the flush system of Tu with the syringe of Leibinsohn in order to provide a system to take blood samples and deliver medication via a catheter in a sterile manner (Tu abstract).

Dovey further teaches the use of a syringe with a tip cap (Fig 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the tip cap of Dovey in order to prevent leakage of the flush solution or accidental needle pricks.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1,3,4,6-9,11,12,14,16,18 and 19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's submission of an information disclosure statement under 37 CFR 1.97(c) with the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p) on 9 October 2007 prompted the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 609.04(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
